FOSTERING. CAN YOU HELP A CHILD?

Hundreds of children in your community need a home and someone to care for them.

Family life is a wonderful thing. A loving bond between child and parent is precious and lasts for life.

Sadly, for some children their home is not a caring or safe place. There are many different reasons. Abuse maybe, or neglect, or maybe the parents just can't cope.

These children need to be fostered, sometimes for a short period, sometimes longer, until their future can be sorted out and agreed. If you can help a child in care, become an SFS foster carer.

Supported Fostering Services is a long established charity dedicated to providing the highest quality foster homes, plus any other help that a child needs to help them grow and flourish. SFS is recruiting carers from a wide range of backgrounds. If you can look after children, teenagers or a child with a disability we would like to hear from you.

These children are needy, vulnerable and neglected. But like all children, they have fantastic potential, just waiting to be unlocked.

If you have a spare room and can offer a child a caring home SFS will provide training, 24 hour support and a generous weekly allowance of £378 to £756 per child.

Supported Fostering Services is a Charity, rated as outstanding at a recent Ofsted inspection. For further information please call your local SFS office, visit www.fostering.com or come to one of our open days.

What Does It Take to Be a Good Carer?
There's no magic formula but certain qualities are important. We asked our carers, and this is what they came up with:

- Our home is a better place because the children are part of the family
- Understand the child, even though their behaviour may be difficult to understand, let alone handle. It's worth it in the long run;
- Resilience, otherwise known as stickability!
- Non judgmental. Get to know the child as they are;
- Patience;
- Sense of humour;
- Flexibility;
- A good support network of family and friends.

Fostering. You are not alone.

Hundreds of children in your community need a temporary home and someone to care for them.

We are recruiting carers from a wide range of backgrounds. If you can look after children, teenagers or a child with a disability we would like to hear from you.

If you can offer a child a caring home we can help you with:

PARKING FEE FURY

CONTROVERSIAL plans to introduce parking charges at Harlow's neighbourhood shopping centres have been pushed through this week despite angry protests.

Scores of traders, residents and shop workers packed the Civic Centre on Tuesday night to plead with members of the environment and community committee to abandon plans to introduce pay-and-display meters in car parks at Old Harlow, Bush Fair and The Stow.

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Although shoppers will be allowed one hour's free parking, worried traders fear it will be the death knell for the community hubs designed by Harlow masterplanner Sir Fredrick Gibbered as people opt to shop at the town's supermarkets where they can park for longer without charge.

Many workers are also angry at having to pay up to £6 for a day's parking until they are issued with permits.

The charges, which will raise £148,000 a year for the council, will also be introduced at the Town Park and Harlow Town station waiting bay. Motorists will also have to pay more to use the Harlow Pool, Wych Elm and Post Office Road car parks.

The proposals caused such uproar at Tuesday's meeting that it had to be adjourned to allow people in the public gallery to calm down. One man left the council chamber after committee chairman Eddie Johnson warned him about his conduct.

Robbers grab cash in raid on Stow shop

TWO robbers escaped with thousands of pounds during a raid at a shop in The Stow on Tuesday.

The pair burst into Cheque Converters at about 2pm and threatened a female member of staff.

They claimed they were armed with a gun but no weapon was seen.

They then snatched a five-figure sum and fled, leaving the woman shaken but uninjured.

One of the men is described as black, in his 30s, about 5ft 8ins tall and of very large build. He was wearing a long-sleeved top with a zipped front.

His accomplice is described as white, of similar build and wearing a hooded top pulled up over his face.

Anyone who witnessed the incident should contact Harlow police on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Man killed by a single blow in row over a taxi

A MAN died from a single punch during a dispute over a taxi following a night out in Harlow, a court heard this week.

Mark White (34), of Broadfields, Harlow, suffered a ruptured brain artery during the incident, a jury at Chelmsford Crown Court was told.

The man accused of landing the fatal blow – Daniel Clarke (22), of Church Leys, Harlow – has pleaded not guilty to manslaughter. David Holborn, prosecuting, said Mr White had been drinking with friends and had consumed a "fair amount" of alcohol before deciding to go home. "They had trouble getting a taxi and arranged one by telephone which caused the problems," said Mr Holborn.

As the taxi arrived outside the Quattroz nightclub in The Rows the group of three, including Mr White, climbed in. But this annoyed another group of men who wrongly thought Mr White's group had taken their cab.

They started making offensive gestures at those in the vehicle. All three got out of the cab and two of them began to chase members of the other group while Mr White stood by the taxi.

Mr Holborn said Clarke then went up to Mr White, shouted at him and, having lost his temper, punched him.

Mr White fell to the floor and subsequently died from a rupture of an artery in the brain. "It's not disputed he [Clark] punched the deceased or caused his death," said Mr Holborn. "The issue is whether he was acting in self defence."

The case, which is expected to last six days, continues.

Pupils flee from school bus blaze

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoon@hertsexnews.co.uk

POLICE and officials from the Department for Transport are carrying out an investigation after a vehicle operated by a Harlow coach company burst into flames while carrying a group of children to school.

The children were on their way to Bishop's Stortford on the SM Coaches bus on Monday morning when the fire broke out.

The pupils stood by the side of the busy A414 between Harlow and Hertford as the flames gutted the coach.

Now some parents are demanding the company, which has a contract with Hertfordshire County Council, is never used again.

Martin Scarry, whose 11-year-old son James was on board, said he had been complaining about health and safety issues surrounding the vehicle for months. "I just want a different bus company; I do not feel my son is safe," he said.

The county council said its contract with the company, based on the Burnt Mill Industrial Estate off Elizabeth Way, would continue until

GUTTED:

Police officers inspect the wreckage of the school coach after it was destroyed by fire on the A414 between Harlow and Hertford on Monday the inquiry was concluded in about two weeks.

The fire started at about 8am as 48 pupils were on their way to St Mary's Catholic School. Smoke was seen coming from the engine compartment at the rear of the bus while it was travelling on the dual carriage-way near the Hadhams turn.

One eyewitness said: "It was awful. I was driving past and I saw all the kids up on the bank."

"The flames were huge. I've never seen anything like that before except on television. It's amazing that no body was injured."

The school is believed to be setting up a meeting with Hertfordshire County Council's passenger transport unit and SM managers.

A county council spokeswoman said yesterday (Wednesday) the fire was a one-off incident. "Any complaints from parents since the start of the contract in 2006 have related to lateness and missed sections of route, not to maintenance standards," she said.

"All vehicles used for schools are subject to annual inspections, plus planned maintenance programmes."

A spokeswoman from SM Coaches said the children were in no danger, adding: "They were all off the coach for at least five minutes before the fire took hold."

Jo takes steps to help cat centre

By SOPHIE WARNER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN animal lover is preparing to take part in 40km trek to raise money for the cat sanctuary where she works as a volunteer.

Jo Turner (29), of Mallards Rise, Harlow, has signed up for the gruelling Just Walk 2009 event which will be taking place in Surrey on May 9.

The money she raises through sponsorship will go to the Chestnut Cat Sanctuary and Rescue Centre at Thornwood Common.

"Someone else at the sanctuary had signed up and I thought I would give it a go," said Jo. "It's the first time I've done anything like this at all."

Walkers can choose from one of four distances ranging from 10-60km over routes which cover many different types of terrain.

Last year 400 walkers completed the challenge and 115 of them chose the longest distance. Together they raised £400,000 for various worthy causes.

Jo, who started volunteering at the sanctuary following the death of her two cats last year, is hoping to raise £1,250. She already has sponsorship pledges for almost £700.

"We have sponsor forms at the sanctuary so we can collar people as they come in," she said. "I have also been handing them out at work and to family and friends."

She added: "I have been getting in practice at weekends, brought some hiking boots and am generally increasing my exercise levels to get prepared."

"It will be a struggle for me as I have trouble with my joints but it is all for a very good cause and I'm looking forward to it."

To sponsor Jo, visit her website at www.mycharitypage.com/Catcrazi or www.justgiving.com/jamesoneverest.

Lotto windfall

TWO organisations in Harlow are among 63 groups in the east of England to benefit from Lottery cash.

The North Essex Partnership NHS Foundation Trust will receive £8,514 to provide gym facilities for in-patients at the Derwent Centre in Hamstel Road while the Harlow Cultural Venues group will use the £2,506 it has been awarded to raise the profile of Harlow and its venues. The money was awarded in the latest rounds of Awards for All, a small grants scheme administered by the Big Lottery Fund.

East of England regional head Jonathan Clark said: "Together these terrific projects share over £400,000 of Lottery funding."

"It's fantastic that at a time when all of us are feeling the pinch financially, we are still finding ways

Supporters of charity appeal brought comfort to homeless

HARLOW homelessness charity Streets2Homes has publicly thanked all the groups and individuals who donated money and gifts as part of an appeal run by the Star.

More than £2,000 was raised during the campaign which ran for eight weeks.

Streets2Homes manager Patsy Dye said: "We would like to thank the NHS Walk-In Centre, Harlow Council, Harlow Tye Rotary Club, Church Langley Church, Hatfield Church, Gateway Christian Fellowship, St Mary's and St James' Church and all those members of the community that donated cash clothing and food items.

"I would also like to send a big thank you to Lee Kjolsens from a company called Bizstream who erected an aerial enabling centre users to watch television and catch up on news, weather - very important when you are sleeping on the streets - and films.

"This proved extremely useful when the centre was used for 10 days in the freezing temperatures in January."

She added: "We would also like to thank the Star for highlighting the plight of the homeless."

Irish fundraiser

IRISH eyes will be smiling when a traditional Irish Ceilidh is held in aid of St Clare Hospice.

Musicians and a caller from local band Mawkin Causley will supply the music in a night of fun at St John's ARC in Old Harlow on Saturday.

St Clare community fundraiser Vicky Parker said: "We are always looking for fun ways in which our supporters can have a great time whilst together we raise vital funds for the hospice."

The night of entertainment starts at 7.30pm and there will be a licensed bar.

Tickets cost £10; to book, call the hospice on (01279) 773 750.

Country walk

MUMS keen to get a breath of fresh air with their families can enjoy an organised walk in the country on Mothers' Day.

The get-together, organised by the Friends of Epping Forest, will take in spectacular views as well as give children a chance to learn map reading and navigation skills.

The two-hour walk begins at 10.20pm at Fairmead campsite in Church Road, High Beach.

Call leader Suzy McKinlay on (0208) 529 8594 for further details.

Carer forum

INVOLVING Essex, formerly known as NEST, will be holding a forum for anyone interested in hearing about the future of client and carer involvement in Essex.

The meeting takes place next Friday at Epping United Reformed Church, in Lindsey Street, from 2- 4pm. For more information call (0845) 090 6378.

THE Rainbow Young Bus, which provides free drop-in sessions for children in Harlow, will be out of action until Monday follow a minor accident.

Assault victim suffers severe facial injuries

A STUDENT needed reconstructive surgery to his face after he was the victim of a vicious and unprovoked attack.

The 17-year-old was walking home from Harlow College with two friends at 12.30pm last Wednesday when he was approached by a man in The Dashes park and punched repeatedly in the face.

His friends intervened and the attacker ran off in the direction of the town centre, leaving his victim with serious facial injuries.

He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where medics operated on facial fractures and inserted a metal plate in his face.

Investigating officer Detective Sergeant Jamie Gringell said: "This was a really nasty attack and one which was unprovoked."

"At this stage we don't know why he was the target of the man's anger and so would like to speak to any witnesses of the assault or anybody who recognises the attacker from the distinctive description."

The man is described as black, in his late teens or early 20s, about 1.83m (6ft) tall, with a distinctively broad upper lip. At the time he was wearing dark jogging bottoms, a black beanie hat and a black hooded top.

Anyone with information should call 0300 333 4444.

By-election date

A BY-election for the Harlow Council seat vacated by former Conservative councillor David Kirton has been called for April 30.

Mr Kirton (55), who represented the Staple Tye ward, has not attended any council meetings for more than six months and has now been disqualified.

He is due to stand trial over allegations he sexually abused a 13-year-old girl.

College's best-ever AS-level results

COLIN HINDMARCH

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW College principal Colin Hindmarch has spoken of his relief after students recorded the best AS-level results in the college's history.

The latest figures show 78 per cent of students passed the exams this year, a 20 per cent improvement on last year.

The news is encouraging for Mr Hindmarch, whose controversial implementation of a new teaching and learning strategy in 2007 was blamed for AS pass rates plummeting to just 58 per cent.

"These are the best results the college has ever had and I am relieved and very pleased," he said. "We've worked so hard to improve the quality of our A-level provision and these results show that we are undoubtedly improving."

Of the 299 students who took AS modules, 78 per cent passed at grades A-E, 43 per cent at grades A-C and 23 per cent at grades A-B.

Success in the modular exams can lead to the award of a two-year A2-level qualification if the student opts to continue their studies.

"I'd like to congratulate our students on their results and to acknowledge the hard work and dedication from both students and staff," Mr Hindmarch added.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell, who voiced his concerns over students' prospects following the massive disruption at the college in the wake of Mr Hindmarch's sweeping reforms, told the Star he too was very pleased by the results.

"I have previously been critical of the college's leadership," he said. "I continue to work with the college to monitor their improvement as well as responding to the college's critics."

"These results however show very welcome signs that Harlow College's AS-levels this year are on the upturn."

● THE number of applications from prospective students wanting to enrol at Harlow College has shot up by 27 per cent this year, according to principal Colin Hindmarch.

Attributing the college's rising popularity to its improving success rates, he said: "It may be that our considerable success with students and the positive experience most students have are messages being passed around the community."

LIFE SAVERS:

Grateful Peter thanks life-saving 999 team

A PENSIONER brought back to life by paramedics has thanked the people who saved him.

Peter Savell (73) did not have a pulse when an ambulance crew arrived at his home in Radburn Close, Harlow, after he suffered a heart attack.

But he is now on the road to recovery and well enough to meet paramedics Graham Wareham and Lee Styles from the Wych Elm ambulance station.

"I owe them a great debt of gratitude," said Mr Savell. "I can't speak highly enough of them."

"Everyone, from these guys who came to my aid to the hospital staff who have been wonderful, it certainly brings home what really happened to me that day."

Mr Savell and his wife Brenda were getting ready to go out on June 24 last year when he collapsed. Mrs Savell said: "I managed to just get him to a chair. I dialled 999 and the operator asked me to get him on the floor but I just couldn't move him."

Within five minutes, Mr Wareham arrived in a rapid response car and commenced coronary resuscitation. He succeeded in getting a pulse and Mr Savell was then taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital, where he stayed for five weeks.

Since then, he has been fitted with an internal defibrillator and attends check-ups at a specialist cardiac centre in Basildon, where his condition is monitored.

Mrs Savell said: "It came out of the blue. He was leading a very normal life and then it happened. It's wonderful that there are people like these three out there doing this job and we really cannot thank them enough."

Mr Wareham said: "It's very rare to get a pulse back. Lee and I have done many a job where, sadly, there is not a good outcome."

"To see him standing in front of us and looking well really is something."

What's in a town's name

HAVE you ever wondered how Harlow got its name?

Well, for those of curious enough to read on, it may be something of a surprise to learn that its history stretches right back to the Domesday Book of 1086 when the community was called Harlaua.

Throughout the ages, the name went through a number of changes until the 15th century from when surviving quotes name the area as Harlough then Harlowe.

The latter variation lasted until the 18th century, but it wasn't until later the town became known as Harlow – derived from the Saxon 'Here' which is an army or host, and 'hlaw' which means a hill. According to Place Names Of Harlow, the 'Here' (which was pronounced 'Har') referred to tribes when they met for the moot, while Hlaw refers to a mound of earth behind Mulberry Green House.

School date for reunion

LAST week Nostalgia published a call for former staff and students of Latton Bush School to join a reunion party being held in the former school hall on September 15.

The date on which the reunion takes place is September 5. We apologise for the error.

All the fun of the carnivals

By LOUISE SASSOON

HARLOW'S carnivals brought much joy to residents who lined the streets to watch the processions of floats wind their way through the town.

The first combined 'new town and old town' carnival took place in 1954 and was organised by Harlow, Mark Hall and Netteswell community associations plus Potter Street Residents' Association.

The floats followed a route from Old Harlow through Potter Street and finished at The Stow. The £66 proceeds from the event went to Dr Barnardo's Homes and St Margaret's Hospital, Epping.

By 1959, the event was growing in size and the Harlow and District Carnival Association was looking to expand the committee. It was decided in 1961 the carnival would be incorporated into the Norway Week of activities to celebrate the twinning of Harlow and Stavanger.

By 1969 it was back as an event in its own right, with floats meeting at Bush Fair before proceeding to The Stow, then through the town centre and finishing at Gilbey's warehouse, just off Hodings Road.

Later carnivals, such as 1977's, started at Bush Fair and finished at the Town Park with a fireworks display.

Correspondent Valerie Chamberlain was one of the many who toiled to create an eye-catching display for one of the later events.

"My husband and I had a couple of years doing the floats and one year we did a GI float, for which we received a trophy," she said.

"The second year we did a pirates float, but unfortunately we didn't get anywhere that year.

"The floats were organised by two people called Lilly and Bill. My mother, brother – who now lives in Canada – and my children were also involved."

During the 1980s and '90s, the carnival procession would be held before the annual fireworks events on November 5 but they stopped in the mid-'90s.

The last Carnival in the town was organised by the Royal British Legion in 2005.

Mrs Chamberlain added: "It is a great shame we don't have any more carnivals; it seems the council do nothing for the residents of this town."

"Weekly concerts in the summer have stopped, Western Weekends have stopped. I also remember show jumping and horse shows were on, but now there's nothing for the people in the town."

From the pages of the Harlow Star 25 years ago

HEALTH CENTRES ARE NOW OWNED BY THE TOWN

The town's six health centres have been officially handed over to Harlow Council after being bought from the Nuffield Trust for £370,000. Harlow Council put in a bid for the 30-year-old health centres when it was revealed that the Nuffield Trust wanted to sell them privately.

NO-ONE ON THE BUSES

The town's bus service ground to a halt when all bus drivers went on a 24-hour strike. About 90 drivers are believed to have joined the action in support of a pay claim by the Transport and General Workers' Union, which involves all drivers working for London County Bus Services.

ARSONISTS STRIKE AGAIN?

Arsonists may have struck for the second time in 18 months when a £30,000 Scout hut was destroyed by fire. The isolated hut in Parsloe Road, Harlow, was built only last year after the original hut was burned to the ground.

MORE PEOPLE IN WORK

March saw a continuing drop in the number of unemployed people in Harlow, with 4,471 registered out of work – 97 fewer than last month.

Council says sorry for tax debt blunder

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL chiefs have apologised to 30 householders who were mistakenly threatened with being taken to court for council tax arrears.

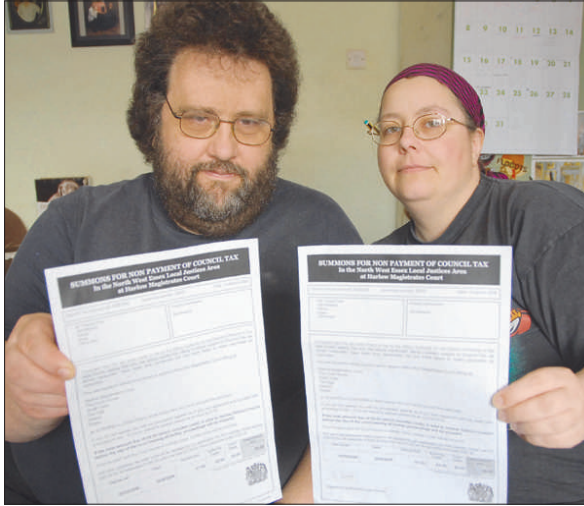

Letters warning of legal action over unpaid sums – some amounting to as little as £1 – were sent out in error alongside council tax bills for 2009-10.

One couple who received county court summonses for non-payment of council tax were Thomas and Teresa Price, of Milwards, Harlow. They were told they owed the council £1 and would each have to pay a further £5 to cover administration costs incurred by the authority for issuing a county court summons.

"We couldn't believe it when we both opened identical letters telling us we had to go to court for the sake of £1," Mrs Price told the Star.

"We knew full well that we didn't owe a penny to the council, but when we phoned up to complain we were passed from pillar to post and no-one seemed to want to know.

"The whole fiasco was absolutely ridiculous and sums up what this council is like. They don't seem to have a clue what's going on most of the time."

A council spokesman apologised for the error and said the authority would be sending out letters to those people affected by the blunder, reassuring them they would not be expected to appear in court.

"We have identified an error affecting around 30 households," he added.

"New procedures have now been introduced as a result and we are doing our best to contact residents affected by telephone.

"Residents can be reassured that in these cases we will not be pursuing the debt and we will be writing to them to confirm this."

Fury as Conservatives refuse to back down on parking fees

for 24 years, said: "This decision will kill our business."

Three speakers – one from each area – told councillors about their fears over the parking charges which have been the subject to consultation for 30 days during which they were opposed by 3,800 people.

Some members of the audience barracked Conservative councillors with shouts that the Tories would not get back in at the next election if the proposals were given the thumbs up.

The meeting then heard the original plans which would have offered no free parking in the earmarked car parks had been changed to allow one hour free because the administration had "listened" to people's concerns.

But Liberal Democrat councillor Lorna Spenceley launched a vicious attack, saying if the ruling party had listened the plans would be scrapped altogether.

She said her party had carried out a survey of business in all three areas and 77 out of 82 said the proposals would be bad for business while 80 said it would be bad for the area in which they trade.

She added charities would suffer because volunteers might not want to pay to carry out a day's free work while firms could lose staff as well as business.

Maggie Hulcoop (Labour) said she also opposed the plans which will force elderly and disabled residents to pay £10 for a visitor's parking permit which had previously been free.

But council leader Andrew Johnson, who attended the meeting despite not being a member of the environment and community committee, said he did not come to power to make easy decisions and defended the plans which have come about after the council received a flurry of complaints over access and parking problems.

Fellow Tory Tony Hall added the council had to do something to address parking issues in the town.

As part of the reforms a trader permit parking scheme will be offered in Bush Fair and The Stow as well as to members of Tye Green Bowls Club in Bush Fair at a cost of £50 a year – equivalent to 13p per day.

Around 60 new parking bays should be provided for traders in the areas.

Council officer Joe McGill said further investigations would also be carried out to see if more on-street parking could be created in the three areas. The results will be reported back to the committee in November.

Crackdown on troublemakers reaps rewards

REPORTS of anti-social behaviour relating to housing have dropped by 10 per cent during the past 12 months.

Harlow Council said the number of cases fell by 153 from 1,656 in 2007/2008 to 1,503 in 2008/2009.

The majority of incidents reported to the council involved flytipping, car parking disputes and graffiti.

The council said the figures highlighted the success of measures it had introduced to tackle anti-social behaviour across the town.

And this week it said it would continue to address the problems with a raft of new measures including the development of ward-based action plans to target specific hotspots with the appropriate resources and early intervention.

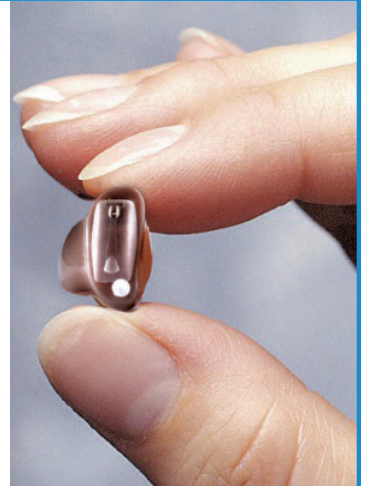

Councillor Joshua Jolles, chairman of the council's housing committee, said: "I'm very pleased with the progress being made as a result of the council's measures.

"Anti-social behaviour seriously impacts on everyone's quality of life. Most of it is committed by a small minority and it is those who are targeted through enforcement action.

"We are committed to tackling anti-social behaviour and will continue to work with all the agencies and with residents to resolve and reduce these problems."

Tory council is an asset for Labour

SIR, When he reduced Bill Rammell's majority to a mere 97 votes at the last General Election, Robert Halfon probably thought that inside the next five years he would most likely become the next MP for Harlow.

With the Government blundering from one crisis to another like blindfolded drunks, his hopes must have risen greatly.

Now, however, he must be wondering just what he has done to be backed by a local party who, with their antics and policies since they took overall control of Harlow Council last year, have made the Texas Chainsaw Massacre seem like a vicar's tea party.

Their claim that there was a £20m deficit should surely have seen the demise of their chief executive officer. And what of the district auditor who is supposed to warn councils when they are getting into financial difficulties with rash expenditure? Surely his position should have been in jeopardy as well?

If the Tories are telling the truth, why have these two officials been retained?

In one of his wartime speeches, Churchill said: "In defeat, defiance; in victory, magnanimity." While as a minor party on the council the Tories may have fulfilled the first but as a majority they have not fulfilled the second, acting like a mad axeman and cutting down everything in sight.

Mr Halfon must see his chances of representing Harlow at Westminster crumbling in the dust as welfare services are cut and unwanted measures are thrust upon an increasingly resentful electorate.

Isn't it ironic that Mr Rammell's greatest political asset for retaining his seat is the local Conservative Party?

D.J. Croager
Felmongers, Harlow

Behaviour we've come to expect

SIR, I've read with interest the many letters the Star has published from people damning the Conservative council leaders currently running the town.

I'm surprised at the uproar simply because they are only behaving like Tories always have done and always will do. Did they really think that representatives of the party that infamously abolished free school milk for children had changed their ways? When they retake Westminster – as it seems they're odds on to do – people should brace themselves for the following: day care centres and nurseries will close in droves, free bus travel for the elderly will be abolished,

School move will create a no-man's-land

SIR, Why do my former colleagues on the governing body of Passmores School continue to delude themselves and the Harlow public by promising that pupils living in the area currently served by the school will benefit by its so-called relocation?

The fact is that this will simply be the closure of their own school and the re-opening of Brays Grove with a different nameplate on the front gate. Only people who don't understand Harlow will think differently.

This whole project was begun with elaborate claims that there would be an iconic, Richard Rogers-designed, state-of-the-art building funded by diverting money from the Government's flagship Building Schools For The Future programme. A telephone call to the BSF office in Whitehall confirmed that such a move was "very definitely against the rules of the BSF funding arrangements".

At a public meeting for Passmores parents, former headmaster Kevin Sadler said he didn't want to consider moving "unless what is on offer meets the needs of your children and grandchildren".

Later, in the local press, he said that transport would be provided for those who live in the Passmores area to travel to the new school.

Interestingly, there was no mention of this in the Star's report ("Deal paves way for £23m school move", March 5) and what is being offered falls way short of this.

In truth, most people in Harlow choose to attend their local school. The decision by the governors to close their own school leaves those living in the Passmores area in an admissions no-man's-land and will, therefore, find it most difficult to get their first preference school.

Of course, no-one would wish to turn down the opportunity for new facilities, but with a rising birth rate in Harlow and thousands of new homes planned, no doubt more imaginative ways could have been found to spend £23m to ensure that all schools in Harlow could remain open. To quote a county council planning officer: "We will be shoe-horning children into schools in Harlow once Brays Grove closes."

The truth is that Passmores governors have been conned. They have allowed themselves to be manipulated by the politicians and have sacrificed the interests of the parents and pupils who live in the community in which the school was placed to serve, including those who use the sports facilities, the music school and everything that comes with having a secondary school within the community.

Graham Allen

safety nets in place to assist the homeless and mentally ill will fade away and waiting lists for NHS treatment will return to months and years as they did when the Tories last held office.

David Cameron is a very media friendly, approachable and unthreatening kind of a guy, but people should look at the others on the Tory front bench and those in the wings to see the true face of the party.

The Tories know the cost of everything but the value of nothing and that will never change.

Robert Johnson
Wissants, Harlow

Petition thanks

SIR, I would like to thank the thousands of people who signed our petition in support of Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice.

I would also like to ask the people of Harlow to help us once more by signing our online petition to the Prime Minister asking him to ask Harlow Council to reconsider their decision.

The petition can be signed at www.petitions.number10.gov.uk/HWRASos.

Mark Richards, Friends of HWRA
c/o Advice Centre, East Gate, Harlow

No spaces for Stow shoppers

SIR, There are not enough parking spaces at The Stow for the shop workers to park, let alone the flats and the offices above the shops.

The council is quite literally trying to squeeze a quart into a pint pot.

It also intends to enforce the yellow lines around the area. They might as well put barbed wire all round and fence it off as there will be no room in the car park for the customers.

Shoppers will just put their foot down and drive two miles up the road to Sainsbury's and park for free or go to Asda.

I am sure my granddaughter, who works as a shop assistant in The Stow, will put on a brave face and smile when she puts her £144 a month into the solar-powered parking meter.

At the same time she will say a silent prayer for all those kind councillors who are helping her with her carbon footprint.

Irene Dixon
Little Cattins, Harlow

Don't rob us of our fun

SIR, I would like to comment on the proposed charges for car parking which will have an effect on members of the Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club.

This was proposed a few years ago and the same objections still apply, even more so now for those OAPs whose income from savings has been drastically reduced.

At the age of 75 it is one of the hobbies/part-time activities I can still pursue. The bowls club will surely close if these charges become a reality. I can only hope that common sense will prevail instead of robbing us elderly of our enjoyment.

We get many clubs coming from as far as Kent and all over Essex. As a match lasts about four hours, plus the meal after, it will work out very costly indeed.

Reunion for old Regiment pals

SIR, May I, through your newspaper, inform all former members of 1st Battalion, 3rd East Anglian Regiment who served in Malaya from 1959-1962 that there is now a veterans group?

So far 40 old comrades have been in touch and we are seeking to make contact with more of those men who joined the regiment and served in Malaya at the end of that country's 12-year emergency. We will be having a reunion at the Imperial War Museum in Duxford on May 31 and are hoping to see many of our old service pals at that event.

In its short life the 3rd East Anglian drew most of its recruits from Essex, Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire. Although many may well have moved away from the area during the past 50 years, we feel sure that there are still a large number within the distribution area of the Star.

Further details of the reunion or information about the veterans group can be obtained from our website at www.freewebs.com/eastangliaregnavetsgroup or by telephoning the group founder Richard Faulkner on (01255) 861463.

Activist and community worker dies

A COMMUNITY stalwart has died suddenly at the age of 64.

Pete Brown is understood to have suffered a heart attack in Spain, where he moved six years ago.

He had lived in Harlow since the early 1950s when he attended Netteswell School and went on to be a manager for Sainsbury's.

In his mid-20s he gave up his job to travel in Israel and Europe, returning to work at Harlow College as a catering and stores manager and, latterly, as a lecturer.

During this time he was an active trades unionist, serving as an Essex NALGO steward and as a member of Harlow Trades Union Council.

As a mature student, he studied The History of Ideas, Philosophy and Politics at Hertfordshire University and obtained a 2:1.

He was then employed by Harlow Council as a neighbourhood manager, involved with the decentralisation of services until redundancy in 1997.

For a time he worked with MEP Hugh Kerr and helped set up the Independent Labour Network and the Green Socialist Network.

As well as being a member of Harlow Labour Party and a neighbourhood manager for Mark Hall and Netteswell, Mr Brown was a governor at Passmores School for several years, a member of Moot House Players and involved with Harlow Fair Trade.

He and his wife Chelo moved to Granada, Spain, to care for her mother and uncle. However, Mrs Brown was tragically killed in a road accident three years ago.

Friend Anthony Edwards said: "Pete will be deeply missed by his family, his friends and by the many people of Harlow who were fortunate enough to have known him."

Mr Brown is survived by his daughters, Emma and Lorna, and his granddaughter Casey.

Time running out for cash-hit advice team

Civic service is the town's first

CIVIC SERVICE: Councillors and guests make their way from the Civic Centre to St Paul's Church

(photo: LTZTSLNL/06)

A PROCESSION of local dignitaries made its way to St Paul's Church in Harlow on Sunday for the town's first civic service.

More than 150 members of the public, Harlow Council and guests attended the event themed around regeneration.

Before the service the Lord Lieutenant of Essex, Lord Petre, council chairman Tony Hall and the Rev Martin Harris led a brief parade from the Civic Centre to the church.

Afterwards, Mr Hall said he hopes to make civic services an annual event.

"The importance of this for me is to emphasise that the church and the council share so many of the same objectives in our community roles that it made sense to symbolise this through this service, which I hope will become an annual event, he said."

Afterwards, those attending returned to the Civic Centre for refreshments and held a charity collection.

HARLOW Welfare Rights and Advice has been forced to close its doors to the public as staff work to resolve more than 600 outstanding cases before public funding for the service dries up on March 31.

Almost 250 cases have been completed in the past few weeks, but general advice and information offered to clients making use of the walk-in service are no longer available due to the sheer volume of existing work still to be done.

Although the service was given a ray of hope last week when a High Court judge ordered Harlow Council to reconsider its controversial plans to slash funding of the service by 82 per cent, HWRA trustees have yet to be contacted by the council regarding future funding arrangements.

Service manager Sue Jones said: "We have been trying to work constructively with the council since the High Court

By CHRIS MOSS

mossc@hertssexnews.co.uk

judgement but we have had no concrete proposals or guarantees of funding beyond March 31.

"We remain hopeful but are mindful of our responsibility to existing clients."

Babs Levett, of the Friends of HWRA, added: "Harlow people have already said what they believe the council's priority should be and the High Court judge has shown serious flaws in the council's actions, so we must all remain positive that funding will be reinstated."

A council spokesman confirmed the authority would continue funding the service until the end of the month but said any decisions on funding beyond that date would be taken at Tuesday night's rescheduled policy and resources committee meeting.

He added: "The council also recently launched a website - www.harlow.gov.uk/creditchurn - which is providing support to people during the recession.

"The website provides comprehensive information and links to free support available both in the town and nationally."

Shops caught selling knives to under 18s

FOUR out of 10 shopkeepers in Harlow broke the law by selling knives to under-age children, it has been revealed.

The figures emerged during a test purchasing exercise by Trading Standards officials.

The operation saw an under-age volunteer enter shops and attempt to buy a knife. While six of the stores passed the test, four were subsequently warned about the law and given advice about spotting under-18s.

The exercise was part of a wider crackdown which saw 43 test purchases for knives carried out in Essex, resulting in a 51 per cent failure rate.

An Essex County Council spokesman said: "The results of the test purchase operation for under-age knife sales have been extremely disappointing so far.

"All shops that have failed test purchases will be revisited in the near future and we will have no hesitation in seeking prosecution against those that fail on a second occasion."

Star pick of Red Nose

YOUNGSTERS and staff at the Kiddi Caru nursery, in Church Langley Way, Harlow, got into the spirit of things by dressing in red and creating colourful hairstyles in a day of fun which raised £120.

FRIENDS Tyler Christmas, Ryan Baker and Faye Galloway dyed their hair red and took to the streets armed with buckets and dressed in red noses and T-shirts to raise cash for Comic Relief. The trio started off in Harlow town centre before moving on to clothing chain TK Maxx, at the invitation of management. Their efforts raised a total of £42.

THE hall at Jerounds Infant School, in Pyenest Road, Harlow, was turned into a beauty salon where children could have their faces and nails painted, and tattoo transfers applied to their arms. The youngsters also gave a donation in return for leaving their uniforms at home and wearing their own clothes. They managed to raise more than £200.

POTTER Street Primary School raised pots of cash by performing their own version of the BBC celebrity show Let's Dance For Comic Relief. All pupils, staff and even some members of the school's parent teacher association took part in the event, which saw the reception class perform The Locomotion, Years 1 and 2 stage excerpts from High School Musical, Years 3 and 4 swing into action with the Cha Cha Slide and Years 5 and 6 perform the Blues Brothers and Michael Jackson's Thriller.

Day fun!

STAFF at Stewards School did something funny for money when they turned up to work wearing their pyjamas. Every teacher at the Parnall Road school, as well as a significant number of pupils, took part in the fancy dress event and raised £1,800. Organiser Marie Erwood, who is pictured with Tony Taylor, Oleshe Akin and Luke Dangerfield, said: "I can always rely on the whole Stewards community to rally for such a worthy cause." (photo: ZQV2B72B/03)

FUNDRAISING totals for Comic Relief shot up thanks to a night of fun organised by a Harlow netball club. Members of Crosskeys Junior Netball Team raised just under £100 when they paid £1 to take part in a fancy dress tournament in which they all wore the colour red. They also baked cakes and biscuits to sell on the night, while younger members did their bit by taking part in a sponsored shoot. The total doubled after the club decided to match the money raised, bringing the total to almost £200. (photo: LXTFNYQT/01)

SCOUTS got to grips with litter and in the process raised £40 for Comic Relief when they cleaned their streets of rubbish and organised a cake sale with the help of the Moat Housing Association. Members of the Great Parndon Scout Group wore fancy dress for the litter-pick in the three areas including The Briars, by the end of which they had collected 17 bags of litter. (photo: SRPC3N9K/04)

Mary said she didn't want her Post Office to close.

We've re-opened five local Post Offices already, with more to come, providing many small communities with vital lifelines.

Cheeky chimp is a rock star!

A CRAFTY chimpanzee who collected stones and rocks to throw at zoo visitors during the day has astounded experts by showing that animals can be clever enough to plan for the future.

Keepers at Furuvik Zoo in Sweden spotted that Santino, pictured left, would spend time piling up stones and rocks when the zoo was closed so he had an ample supply of missiles to use during opening hours.

The cheeky chimp was also smart enough to work out that when rocks were damaged they were easier to break into chunks.

Up until now there has been little proof that animals are able to plan for the future.

But Santino seemed to understand that after water had leaked into a rock and frozen, that rock would become easier to break into smaller pieces.

Keepers also noticed he didn't collect piles of rocks when the zoo was closed for its winter break.

As soon as staff realised what he was up to, they were kept busy removing hundreds of piles of rocks to protect visitors from being pelted!

The remarkable findings are reported in the next edition of a special science magazine called Current Biology.

Midnight Walkers to turn town pink video ▶▶

www.harlowstar.co.uk

SHOPPERS in Harlow town centre were greeted by a crowd of people in pink when St Clare Hospice launched its 2009 Midnight Walk on Thursday.

Within 15 minutes of the registration website going live, the first few places were filled.

Supporters were out in force at The Water Gardens, handing out entry form leaflets and encouraging people to sign up for the 10km walk which takes place on Saturday, June 20.

Organisers are hoping more than 2,000 people will take part in this year's event and have set a fundraising target of £120,000.

"We had such a fantastic response last year and a great night in June that we couldn't wait to launch this year's event," said Giles Wright, communications officer for St Clare. "We've had lots of people calling us to ask when they could sign up, so I've got a feeling places are going to go quickly."

Event fundraiser Tracy Meale added: "This year we are looking for 2,000 walkers to take part and encouraging everyone to wear fancy dress – something pink and funky – and have a fun night out with the girls!"

Every year the Hastingwood hospice provides free-of-charge its specialist palliative care for people over the age 18 who are living with a life-limiting illness such as cancer. It has to raise about £4,000 every day to meet its running costs and receives only 30 per cent of its funding from the NHS.

The money raised from last year's Midnight Walk paid for more than four weeks of 24-hour in-patient care for eight patients at any one time.

One woman who has first-hand knowledge of the difference the hospice can make to someone living with a condition like cancer is Sam, whose mother died at the age of 47 in the in-patient unit last year.

"At first she would go for the day as she was exhausted by her illness," said Sam, who lives in Harlow. "When the illness started to take over, she went as an in-patient and they cared for her 24/7, helping to make her as comfortable as possible."

"They've got fantastic people there. Mum spent her last few days in the hospice, which were as good as they could be."

ST CLARE HOSPICE

FACTfile

- St Clare Hospice serves a population of more than 300,000
- Approximately 30 per cent of all new patients last year were under the age of 65
- 31 per cent of referrals for new patients were made by district nurses
- 51 per cent of patients were male
- Six per cent of patients are living with an illness other than cancer
- 88 per cent of patients are living with cancer (six per cent diagnosis unrecorded/not known)
- Patients are referred by GPs, district or Macmillan nurses or hospital teams
- Most of St Clare's patients are living with cancer. However, it also provides care for people living with other life-limiting illness.
- Almost one-third (31 per cent) of the population knows someone who has been cared for by a hospice
- Nine out of 10 British adults believe that everyone with a life-limiting illness should have the right to hospice care

A few weeks after her mother died, Sam took part in the Midnight Walk. "It was the best atmosphere ever and it was really, really good. My family – there were 12 of us – raised nearly £1,700.

"It's a great night. It sounds like it is a long walk but it isn't. We all stick together and have fun!"

"They need funds to keep coming in because they have new patients almost every day. Mum loved it there. She was pleased she went to the hospice and it was her wish. I was able to visit whenever I wanted to and stay as long as I wanted."

"I spent the last night with her, which was obviously really hard, but it's a great place and everyone there is so supportive."

The Star is once again supporting the Midnight Walk and will be featuring weekly reports in the run-up to the big night. To register to take part, visit the website at www.stclare-hospice.co.uk/midnightwalk or call (01279) 773759 for a registration form.

WIN Tickets for a date with the Calendar Girls

FOLLOWING the success of the fastest-selling tour in history and with a glowing set of reviews, Calendar Girls now sets out to conquer London's glittering West End.

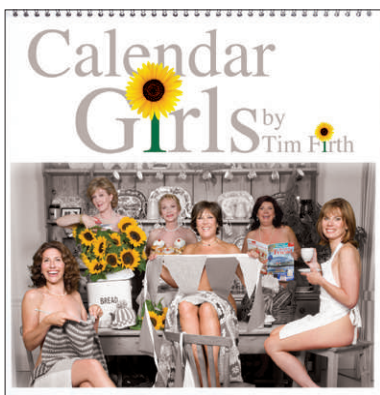

It tells the story of a group of extraordinary women, members of a very ordinary Yorkshire WI, who spark a global phenomenon by persuading one another to pose for a charity calendar with a difference! As interest snowballs, the calendar girls find themselves revealing more than they'd ever planned.

This stage version of the hit film opens at the Noël Coward Theatre, in St Martin's Lane, London WC2, next month and stars Lynda Bellingham, Patricia Hodge, Siân Phillips, Gaynor Faye, Brigit Forsyth, Julia Hills and Elaine C. Smith.

This week we are giving FIVE lucky readers the chance to win a pair of tickets to the Gala Performance of Calendar Girls on Monday, April 20.

All you have to do to stand a chance of winning a pair of tickets is answer the simple question in the coupon and follow the entry instructions. Alternatively, you can enter via our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk by clicking on 'Competitions' in the Lifestyle section. Under competition name enter 'Harlow Star/Calendar Girls'.

If you are not one of our lucky winners, you can book tickets for the show by calling 0844 482 5140 or visit www.seecalendargirls.com.

Terms & Conditions

Prize tickets cannot be exchanged for alternative performance dates and have no cash value. Tickets are subject to availability. All necessary transportation is the responsibility of the prizewinners.

Caring for your Pet

IT'S National Pet Month next month (April 4-May 4) and the theme this year is Healthy Pets Make Happy Pets.

As well as donating money to numerous animal charities, this year's campaign will also seek to raise awareness of the importance of pet health. After all, healthy pets make happy pets!

As part of its campaign, National Pet Month has provided top tips for responsible pet ownership. Whether you're an old hand at pet ownership or are thinking of getting a new addition to the family, this is a great place to start!

- Think carefully before getting a pet and learn about its special requirements;

- Ensure your pet is sociable and well trained;
- Provide a nutritious and well balanced diet;
- Provide suitable housing and bedding;
- Clean up after your pet and worm it regularly;

- Protect against disease. Your vet can provide you with advice;
- Prevent unwanted litters and neuter your pet when appropriate;
- Groom your pet regularly;
- Control your pet and ensure it is properly identified;

- Take out pet insurance for dogs, cats, rabbits and horses to cover against unexpected veterinary fees and third party liability.
- Locally we have a wealth of animal experts. Why not take a look at the top service providers on this page and start as you mean to go on with a healthy, happy pet!

In Memoriam

DAVID. Brian, died 25th March 1998. Some say there is a reason, some say that time will heal, but the 11 years without you Dad, haven't changed the way we feel. No-one knows the heartache that we've suffered since you died, no-one knows how many times we've broken down and cried. We cannot bring the old days back, when we were all together, but with the love within our hearts, you will walk with us forever. Also loving thoughts of our Mum (Mavis) on our first Mother's Day without her. If flowers grow in heaven, Dad Pick a bunch for us, place them in our Mum's arms and tell her they're from us. We miss you both so very very much. All our love, Caz and Steve, Joanne, Mick, Helen, James, Joe and hayley, xxxxxxxx

Acknowledgements

DORIS ATKINSON (DOT)
Ron and his family are most grateful and comforted by the expressions of condolence and support offered by so many friends at this sad time.
We would like also to thank Elmhurst Care Home staff for the loving care and consideration which they gave to Dot during her long stay.
Thanks also to Curate Rob Wynford-Harris and Daniel Robinson & Sons for the sympathetic handling of all the arrangements.

CHRIS LYNN
I would like to thank absolutely everybody for the support, cards, letters, phone calls and messages I have received over the last few weeks. There are so many, I will never be able to thank you all individually. Around three hundred people attended Chris' funeral and while I spoke to the majority, I did not manage to get around to everyone. So I would like to thank you for coming and helping me to get through what was a very tough day. With grateful thanks to Gary Neill and all at Daniel Robinsons, who paid incredible attention to detail and made the day run like clockwork. I know how much went on behind the scenes and how difficult it was for you personally. Your professionalism was flawless; Chris would have been very proud of you all.

Thank you to Reverend Clive Slaughter, Reverend Bob Payne, Gary Neill and Derek King for the wonderful tributes you gave and the lovely things you said about Chris. Many thanks to all the Brothers from The Lodge of Borrowed Light and their Wives, you have been so caring throughout Chris' illness. A special thank you to our fantastic friends who made so much delicious food and to those who worked so hard in the kitchen. At this time of such sadness it is a real comfort to know the great friends I have in all of you. Please accept this as my only but sincere acknowledgement, Lyn Lynn.

ALF NOBLE

Ivy and family would like to thank Princess Alexandra Hospital for their kindness to Alf, also thanks to friends for their support and donations to the Essex Air Ambulance

SMITH. Doug. We would all like to say a heartfelt thank you to everyone for the huge support, floral tributes & donations that we have been kindly given in our recent loss of Doug. Thank you.

FREDRICK SYCE

Dorothy Syce and family would sincerely like to thank everyone who sent flowers or donations to Fredrick Syce (Fred the egg), who died 26-2-09. Many thanks to all at Daniel Robinson & Sons for their excellent attention. The 'Sun Pub' for the wonderful wake and to Jan Flowers. Best wishes to you all.

Owen wins name game

ST JAMES PRIMARY:

Owen Harknett proved there was snow-one better for the job when he entered a competition run by Essex County Council to name one of its gritting lorries.

Owen (8) was thrilled to learn his suggestion of Snow Buster was the winner and he was rewarded with a £15 book token. He had entered the competition along with classmates at the Paringdon Road school.

As well as coming up with a name, he had to produce a drawing of the vehicle at work. Owen and his winning entry are pictured alongside one of the road gritters. (s)

Science showcase a hit with pupils

ST NICHOLAS: Budding Einsteins got to grips with the appliance of science when they were treated to a series of demonstrations. Harlow charity Science Alive visited the school to hold a series of weird and wacky experiments intended to give children with an aptitude for maths and science an opportunity to develop their skills. All junior pupils took part in the interactive show and afterwards selected children had the opportunity to participate in a number of additional workshops.

Using their imaginations to get into books

WORLD Book Day was marked with a plethora of activity when Harlow school children got to grips with literature.

Children at ST ALBAN'S, in First Avenue, dressed as their favourite book characters for the day to get into the spirit of the occasion and enjoyed a series of book-related activities in the class room.

SCHOOLGATE NURSERY, in Potter Street, also took the opportunity to don costumes representing various book characters, with both staff and children joining in the fun.

And pupils at ST LUKE'S, in Pyenest Road, marked the end of a week of literary learning by dressing up in their pyjamas to be read bedtime stories.

A school spokeswoman said: "The children really enjoyed the week and this was a fun way to end it."

Pensioners fume as heating charges soar

PENSIONERS in sheltered housing schemes throughout Harlow have been told their heating bills will more than double from the start of April.

Letters about the massive hike in their weekly rent and service charges were sent out by Harlow Council last week – and many now fear their pensions will not stretch far enough.

Netteswellbury Farm resident Les Fish (69) said: “My pension is going to rise by about £7 a week but my heating bill has more than doubled from £13.93 to £34.51 – how does the council expect me to afford such a huge increase?”

“We were all aware that the cost of our heating was going to rise, but we were told it would be phased in over a number of years – this has come as a tremendous shock to everyone.”

Neighbour Patricia Norcott (74), whose weekly heating charge has rocketed from £6.25 to £14.75, added: “We were told these charges would be phased in over a period of five years but we’ve been hit by a 120 per cent increase in our weekly bill straight away.

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

“I don’t know how the council is coming up with these figures because none of us on Netteswellbury Farm have individual gas meters; we can’t even check that our bills are correct.”

A Manor Hatch tenant, who wished to remain unnamed, said her heating bill was due to almost triple from £5.89 to £14.05 and said she too was worried about not being able to afford the sudden hike.

But a council spokesman insisted changes to heating bills had been well-publicised and claimed the cash-strapped authority had no option but to pass increasing energy costs onto residents.

“The council decided in 2007 that tenants needed to pay the true cost of their energy charges,” he added. “It was decided that for sheltered housing tenants, the cost would be phased in to reduce the impact.”

“Regrettably, with the current high energy charges we do have to pass costs on to the tenants.”

Unit named in honour of Tom

A NEW detox unit in Passmore House which will support patients battling drink and drug addictions has been named after a courageous former alcoholic who became a county council care commissioner.

Tom Brennan, a former resident of Hertford's Vale House rehab centre – which now runs the new Harlow detox unit in Third Avenue – beat the bottle in 1997 and dedicated his life to helping others.

But tragedy struck three years ago when he was diagnosed with a brain tumour and now, with just months to live, his former carers at Vale House have named their new Harlow rehabilitation facility Tom Brennan House in his honour.

“It’s really heartening and incredibly rewarding to know that so many people care about you,” Mr Brennan told the Star. “I would like to thank everyone at Vale House for honouring me this way.”

The 18-bed detox unit and residential rehabilitation home cost £3m and is due to open on April 1.

The nuisance of junk mail goes on after death

BEREAVED families in Harlow are being bombarded by more than 1,200 pieces of junk mail addressed to deceased loved ones every week.

Research carried out by The Deceased Preference Service shows that last year alone 65,730 items were sent to homes in Harlow addressed to people who were no longer alive.

Now the DPS is urging local businesses in Harlow to regularly screen their database to prevent such mistakes.

DPS spokeswoman Eve Hamilton said: “Offers through the mail can be extremely welcome and useful, but not when they are sent to people who have died.”

“Not only can mail of this kind serve as a very painful reminder of the loss experienced by the families that are left behind, but it can also lead to untold horrors if that person’s identity goes on to be stolen.

“Companies need to realise just how insensitive they are being but also become more responsible in light of the growing trend for ID fraud.”

She said research showed that if companies removed the names of the deceased from their mailing lists they could save tens of thousands of pounds in lost marketing revenue and reduce the impact to the environment.

Tony brings the Players Home once again

HARLOW'S longest-running amateur dramatics group presents an intoxicating tale of mirth and madness tonight (Thursday) with its second adaptation of David Storey's critically acclaimed Home.

The Moot House Players first staged a version of the Tony Award-nominated play in 1974, in which current director Tony Edwards played the pivotal role of Alfred, and hopes its second outing will win over a new generation of audiences. Written in a quasi-absurdist style influenced by the great Samuel Beckett, Home is a touching and often hilarious musing on human nature and the decline of British society.

With a small cast of eccentric characters, including the seemingly benign Harry, highly opinionated Jack, cynical Marjorie and flirtatious Kathleen, the play's intimacy belies the sweeping concerns of its central themes.

A Players spokeswoman said: "Tony chose this play because he's been in it himself, as a much younger man, and appreciates its humour and sense of humanity."

"It is very, very funny in parts but also displays David Storey's keen sense of the absurd and the melancholy."

"The relatively small cast are all very experienced and have helped form the backbone of many recent MHP productions."

Home begins a three-night run tonight (Thursday) in Moot Hall, The Stow. The show starts at 8pm and tickets are £8 (£6 concs) from (01279) 639170.

Pictured, left, in rehearsal are, left to right, Geoffrey Leeds, Robbie Chittick and Joan Lanario.

Quiff of nostalgia at a very Special evening

REVIEW

RODDY RADIATION & THE SKABILLY REBELS

The Square, Fourth Avenue

RODDY Byers had a dream. He dreamt of a fantastical world where mods, rockers, skins and rudeboys could put aside their ideological differences for an evening and skank, rattle and roll in unison.

It's a world where snuffy musos didn't get all precious if strict genre rules were disobeyed, where carefully-moulded quiffs were still in vogue, where kids preferred milkshakes to Bacardi Breezers, where ebony and ivory live together in perfect (err...you've made your point now - Ed).

It really shouldn't work. Picture the scene – a bizarre-looking bunch of chaps brandishing guitars, brass and keys squeeze on to The Square's diminutive stage in front of a packed-out summit of booze-addled weekend warriors sweating anticipation.

A guy with a battered leather jacket and neat quiff approaches the mic while a bloke who looks like Morrissey's portly older brother whispers something to a rather dapper gent in a summer suit clutching a saxophone.

Then, just as half the audience begin to wonder if they've walked on to the set of David Lynch's next mind-bending masterpiece by mistake and the other half wait for Trinny and Susannah to appear, the music leaps out of the speakers, grabs everyone by the privates and gleefully reduces grown men with steady jobs and expanding waistlines to dancing gibbons.

As The Square descends into a frenzied Dance Craze, old enemies kiss and make up and beer is spilled by the gallon, the man at the mic with the leather and quiff smiles knowingly and continues his aural assault of mashed-up ska-punk-rockabilly madness.

When Mr Radiation then decides to launch into the rollicking ska rhythms of his former band's breakthrough hit Gangsters, the crowd likewise step up the pace and furiously skank like impossibly loose-limbed marionettes as the mighty Rebels effortlessly jerk their strings.

It really shouldn't work and maybe 30 odd years ago it wouldn't have just been beer that was spilled, but there was something so irresistibly inclusive, involving and inspirational about the Rebels' imperious performance I'm tempted to use the L-word.

But I can't stand them happy-clappy hippies so I'll leave it at that.

MUSIC Former Ultravox frontman Midge Ure rocks into The Playhouse tonight (Thursday) for an intimate acoustic set of his greatest hits. The show begins at 8pm and tickets are £18.50 (£17.50 concs) from (01279) 431945.

DRAMA Follow the hilarious exploits of Rene Artois in East Herts Operatic Society's stage adaptation of hit TV show 'Allo 'Allo at the Victoria Hall Theatre, in Old Harlow. The show starts a three-night run tonight (Thursday) at 7.30pm and tickets are £7.50 (£5 concs) from (01992) 479188.

MUSIC Eagles tribute band Desperado return to The Playhouse tomorrow (Friday) with a selection of the legendary band's greatest hits, including Take It Easy, Lyin' Eyes, Hotel California and, of course, Desperado. The show starts at 8pm and tickets are £16 (£15 concs) from (01279) 431945.

BOOKS The Harlow Writers' Workshop invites budding wordsmiths to an afternoon of passion, pathos, fantasy and fun on Saturday when it launches its new anthology, Worlds Within Words. Hosted at the Gibberd Gallery, in the Civic Centre, the event begins at 2.30pm and tickets are £3 (£2 concs) from (01206) 573948.

MUSIC Say thank-you for the music and enjoy a night to remember when internationally acclaimed tribute act ABBA Gold bring their live show to The Playhouse on Saturday. Expect platform boots, ridiculously big hair and songs as silky-smooth as their extravagant costumes. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets are £16.50 from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC The world-renowned Navarra and Sacconi Quartets join forces to give classical music lovers a unique opportunity to witness three passionate and beautiful works by Mendelssohn and Brahms performed live at The Playhouse on Sunday at 3pm. Tickets are £12 from (01279) 431945.

PSYCHIC Celebrity spirit medium Derek Acorah spooks The Playhouse on Wednesday and Thursday with two evenings of ghostly interaction at 7.30pm. Tickets are £18.50 from (01279) 431945.

to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
Mars continues in a potentially tricky area, so don't let any competitive sector, joining frustrations go unattended with Venus which has ed. Yet pleasingly, with the Sun and Mercury arriving early February. The in your sign, you can be chances are in that time, much less introspective or there's been lots of bogged down by hard to tantalising conversation - fathom fears. If there has not least romantically, been a sense of drift, this which may have got will soon make way for a seriously flirty. Now dynamic new phase in however, you are urged to your year. You're back, make your mind up about and how so! Call now for more astral advice

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
You can find yourself thinking back over the events of the last twelve months, or even beyond. This is because you sense that there may be some major issues for you to come to terms with. Some of these can be happy events, some maybe about endings. But by going through this stage you are readying yourself for the next big cycle of activity. Call your special prediction line for more

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
There's little doubt that Mars is giving you considerable leadership potential. If you tend not to see yourself in this way, ok, but this extra clout can work in an everyday sense, and see you more desirous of people's respect. With the Sun and Mercury now adding sparkle to your natural talent for networking, a week of real opportunity lays in store. Call me now for more news and astral advice

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Pluto plays a major role this week in that it clashes, astrologically, with both the Sun and Mercury. The suggestion is that you may find yourself challenged by the very people you need to keep on-side. To circumnavigate this, it's going to be essential to be so doing create a lot of straightforward and honest in your approach. Someone important is watching how you react. Call me now for your in-depth forecast

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
People have expectations of you. These have probably been shaped by you when over time you have played a role or been dutiful, and it was something that they got used to and now relate to. You, on the other hand, may feel that you have had enough of being such a good egg, and are in the mood to make a bid for freedom. This may ruffle some feathers. Call your special prediction line for more

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Things can get a bit intense this week. There has been a lot of chat, but with Mars now becoming more established in your opposite sign you may be less patient of the perceived failings of others. Yet all of this may not emerge in a particularly logical way. What's more likely is that you are set to be driven by a deeper, less obvious, depth of emotions. Call now for more astral advice

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Your equilibrium may have been shaken recently, but this week is going to give you lots of opportunities to get more grounded. Spending time walking in the countryside, close to nature, would be a super way to approach your leisure time, but at home or work, you'll be in the mood to achieve tangible results. By the week's end, fortune beckons. Call now for more news and advice

Mall guard capers are sadly not a lot of cop

PAUL BLART: MALL COP

certificate PG, running time 1h30m

SIZE matters, especially when deciding who to poke fun at, in Steve Carr's politically incorrect comic spin on Die Hard, set in a New Jersey shopping centre under siege from armed robbers.

Instead of lean, mean Bruce Willis in a sweat-drenched vest, Paul Blart: Mall Cop places its trust in the sweaty palms of an overweight, lovesick father whose dreams of joining the state police are thwarted by his corpulence.

Kevin James and Nick Bakay's script is unrelenting in its disdain for Paul, reducing him to a sobbing wreck after failed attempts to find love online.

There's a large divide between sympathetic and pitiful and in the opening half hour, the film stands on the wrong side too often.

To make amends, the figure of fun gives himself a good talking to and transforms into a gung-ho action hero who, naturally, saves the day and outwits his gym-toned rivals.

But the sweetness of the finale, slathered in sugary sentiment, cannot completely mask the bitter taste left by those early sequences.

Caring, community-minded Paul Blart (Kevin James) diligently patrols the two levels of his local mall with new kid on the block Veck (Keir O'Donnell), abiding by the key tenets painted above the security station door: Detect. Deter. Observe. Report.

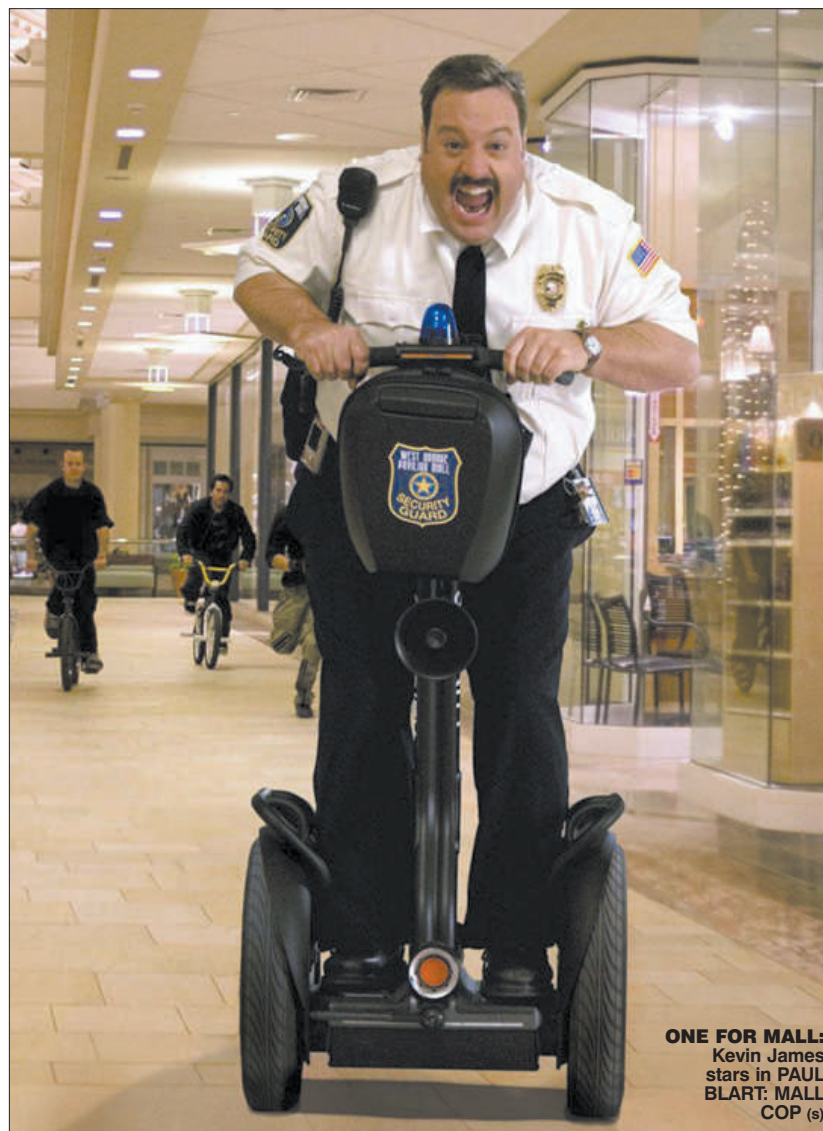

He's a joke to co-workers, who snipe: "Why can't you punch in and punch out and shut up like the rest of us?"

"Because security never takes a holiday," responds Paul proudly, thrusting out his chest whenever he sees salesgirl Amy (Jayma Mays).

At home, his mother (Shirley Knight) and daughter Maya (Raini Rodriguez) persuade him to look for love online but Paul's heart is still wounded from being abandoned by his green card-chasing wife.

But all that changes when a group of highly organised criminals targets the mall on Black Friday, the day after Thanksgiving and also the busiest shopping day of the year, taking a number of employees hostage.

And all that stands between the gun-toting felons and thousands of dollars in holiday takings is a heavyweight security guard.

WORDS are meaningless in this comic caper – everyone is bluffing to some extent.

We don't know who to trust – if anyone – as the intricate plot unfolds, right up to the final frame.

CIA officer Claire Stenwick (Julia Roberts) and MI6 agent Ray Koval (Clive Owen) leave behind government intelligence to employ their expertise in the cutthroat world of big business.

Frothy and energetic, we're compelled to take sides as the battle of the sexes escalates into an all-out war.

LESBIAN VAMPIRE KILLERS

certificate 15, running time 1h26m

STARS of the award-winning sitcom Gavin & Stacey star in this juvenile horror spoof.

Clumsy, dull, and almost completely starved of laughs, Lesbian Vampire Killers has the duo huffing and puffing all the way to the village of Cragwich, blissfully unaware that the locals have been cursed for centuries by Carmilla, the Lesbian Vampire Queen.

The pair join forces with a campervan full of sexy, foreign student girls to despatch Camilla and her undead minions.

NONE other than the socio-political hip-hop phenomenon that is Goldie Lookin' Chain will be blazing their way to Quattroz this very Saturday for an evening of outrageous shellsuits, bad teeth and unabashed Welshness.

Newport's best and only exponents of that crazy new rap sound are gearing up for the release of their new album, the aptly titled Asbo4Life, and have chosen humble Harlow town as the perfect platform from which to disseminate their profound musings on urban decay and the decline of contemporary society.

True, the novelty may have worn off a little since the release of their rib-tickling debut album, Greatest Hits, but the sight of grown Welsh men wearing ill-fitting sports casuals and attempting to breakdance will surely never cease to amuse.

Promising to play a rollicking set of all your favourites, including Your Missus Is A Nutter, Half Man/Half Machine and Guns Don't Kill People, Rappers Do, the eight- to 12-strong rap crew will even be holding a fancy dress competition on the night in which the lucky gig-goer wearing the most vomit-inducingly garish shellsuit and gold chain ensemble will win the opportunity to perform on stage with their anti-heroes.

● Tickets for the gig are £10 and are available from www.seetickets.com.

MARLEY & ME Animal lovers will go bow wow wow for this comedy-drama about one man's journey of self-discovery with a mischievous Labrador. Owen Wilson and Jennifer Aniston star as a young couple struggling to juggle professional and parental responsibilities as well as Marley, the tiny, adorable bundle of fun that soon grows into 100 pounds of uncontrollable energy, chewing up anything and everything in the couple's home.

WATCHMEN Zack Snyder's adaptation of Alan Moore's dense, iconic comic is little short of a masterpiece, capturing the tone and essence of the original in a dark, bloody tale of vigilantes in an alternative 1980s America.

THE YOUNG VICTORIA The early, somewhat fictionalised years of the long-reigning queen and her love for Albert.

GRAN TORINO Clint Eastwood's tour-de-force performance as xenophobic war veteran who takes a young Asian boy under his wing but finds himself in a world riven by gang violence and peer pressure.

CONFESSIONS OF A SHOPAHOLIC A college grad nurtures her shopping addiction.

BOLT 3D Breathtaking heroics and fun abound in this animated adventure about a canine actor raised on a TV set to think he's a real superhero.

WISE BLOOD

(Second Sight, 15, retail)

Returning from the Vietnam War to his Bible Belt hometown, Hazel Motes is a man disturbed by his experiences and burning with a zealous new mission. Disgusted by the Evangelical cant and off-the-peg fervour he encounters at every hand, he travels to the city of Macon to launch his own idiosyncratic religion – The Church Of Truth Without Jesus Christ.

Like an old time prophet, he finds his path beset by betrayal, misappropriation, stupidity, ignorance and, ultimately, bloodshed and sacrifice.

Made in 1979 and starring a young Brad Pitt as his most intense, Wise Blood is one of John Huston's lesser-known films. It may be touted as "a Southern Gothic masterpiece" but, final 10 minutes aside, it plays out more as a rambling slice of Americana; it's clearly a project close to the director's heart (Huston himself appears as Motes' revival tent preacher sire) and has plenty of interesting ideas, but ultimately it lacks cohesion and is occasionally undone by moments of jaunty, ill-advised humour.

Nevertheless, there's still plenty to relish here as wild-eyed Motes and his new atheist faith crash furiously against the rocks of a reality which the film time and again reveals to be little more than surface hucksterism: a blind preacher (Harry Dean Stanton) is really a sighted crook; visiting sideshow attraction 'Gonga – Giant Monarch of the Jungle' is just a drunk in an ape suit; a shrunken body exhibited in a rundown museum is proffered as a new messiah. Wherever the film wobbles, Dourif's driven, baleful performance holds it together, and he's in good company with the likes of Stanton, Amy Wright and Ned Beatty.

Extras include perceptive interviews with Dourif, Wright and co-screenwriters Michael Fitzgerald and Benedict Fitzgerald.

Star rating: ★★★★★

TRANSSIBERIAN

(Icon Home Entertainment, 15, retail)

Every young backpacker's nightmare is visited upon a nice American couple as they travel from Beijing to Moscow on the famed Trans-Siberian Express only to discover they've been duped into smuggling heroin.

Woody Harrelson and Emily Mortimer play homeward-bound young missionaries Roy and Jessie, who fall in with dashing Carlos (Eduardo Noriega) and his girlfriend Abby (Kate Mara).

But the shifting friendships and sexual tensions pale into insignificance when they encounter superficially mild-mannered anti-drugs cop Grinko (Ben Kingsley, under-stated and very effective), a man with a lot more secrets than they have.

The Chinese and Russian locations are breathtaking and director/co-writer Brad Anderson makes the most of their frozen, quiet beauty as he weaves an unexpectedly exotic and offbeat thriller.

However, he does expect a fair bit of leeway from his viewers by having a central character carry out a brutal, unnecessary murder and yet retain narrative sympathy, and things threaten to derail near the climax when he seems to tire of 'taut thriller' and veers sharply into more predictable action movie territory before righting things for a poignant and satisfying ending.

Extras include a making-of, interviews and deleted scenes.

Star rating: ★★★

88 MINUTES

(Warner Home Video, 15, retail)

After just a few minutes of Al Pacino's trademark bug-eyed gruff shouting, you can't help but start to wonder if Dog Day Afternoon was the last time he ever actually acted, as opposed to slipping on the same familiar costume of tics and mannerisms.

Here he's forensic psychologist Jack Gramm, all goatee, dark charcoal tailoring and a gravity-defying dyed bouffant, whose testimony jailed a serial killer several years earlier but who now, on the eve of the condemned man's execution, finds himself amid copy-cat murders and trying to outwit a death threat giving him just 88 minutes to live.

That's the cue for about 70-odd minutes (not 88) of often-hilarious scampering about all over town, tangling with assailants, dodging exploding cars, recklessly driving cabs, barking into cell phones, stumbling across dead bodies and engaging in gunfights while wading through a veritable shoal of obvious red herrings.

William Forsythe pops up as a suspicious cop while events career towards a ludicrously implausible climax, but it's hard to actively dislike a film so simple-mindedly bent on the pursuit of big showy thrills.

Extras include an alternative ending, a commentary and interview with director Jon Avnet and, amusingly enough, the featurette The Character Within in which Pacino discusses what it takes to create the perfect character ... and, oddly, gruff shouting doesn't get a mention.

Star rating: ★★

THE LAST TEMPLAR

(Brightspark Productions, 15, retail)

A very silly made-for-TV two-part fusion of Indiana Jones and The Da Vinci Code that somehow overcomes very poor writing, plot holes gaping like canyons and an obnoxious heroine to emerge as very superficial entertainment for the undemanding.

You'd never know it was the same Mira Sorvino who charmed so deftly in Mighty Aphrodite and Romy & Michelle's High School Reunion – here she plays supremely annoying, highly unlikely single mum and archaeologist Tess, a brittle, arrogant Type-A personality who can turn her hand from horseback jousting in high heels to historical detective work with barely a flick of her tousel highlights.

When four Templar knights raid an exhibition of Vatican treasures at New York's Metropolitan Museum and make off with a complicated decoder, they trigger a treasure hunt for the fabled lost treasure of that much-maligned holy order.

Helped by an FBI agent (Scott Foley) and beset by those who would have the treasure for themselves, Tess gallivants off to solve a series of plot-motivating clues with the same beaming satisfaction as a two-year-old figuring out how to successfully use a potty.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

BERR

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Better homes, better communities

Having recently achieved a Two Star with Promising Prospects for Improvement from our Audit Commission inspection, BHA is now entering an exciting phase in its development. We are now seeking to appoint to a number of key posts to help build on our successes.

Asset Strategy Manager c£50,000

As Asset Strategy Manager, you will be responsible for the planning function in the Property Services Department taking the lead on the development of our Asset Management Strategy, governing the quality of our newbuild/refurb' built products and analysing socio-economic data. Working closely with the delivery teams, you will create long term investment plans for our existing stock, identify redevelopment opportunities and commission regular stock condition surveys. With a RICS qualification, you will have experience in business/asset planning and be able to communicate with residents and staff across the business.

Repairs Manager £42-48,000 (2 years fixed term)

We are looking to appoint a first class leader and 'change manager' to both manage BHA's responsive maintenance team, driving down the costs of the repairs service while maintaining excellent customer satisfaction. Working closely with IT, finance and operations teams, you will lead on re-engineering processes, moving our repairs service through its agreed action plan, taking us through EU procurement in 2010/11.

You'll show excellent people and change management abilities, as well as having high level IT, budget and project management skills. Starting salary will depend on skills and experience.

Retirement Housing Manager c£30,000

This key post is responsible for ensuring effective and efficient delivery of our retirement housing service. You will provide a housing support service to over 700 residents, which is responsive to their needs in both planning and delivery. You'll have in-depth knowledge of the Supporting People Programme and the ability to provide appropriate staff management to non-office based people.

Income Recovery Officers £23,000

These newly defined roles are responsible for maximising rental income from both current and former tenants. You will support and assist them to sustain their payments, by providing effective welfare benefits and debt counselling advice and making referrals to relevant support agencies. You'll need excellent customer focused and IT skills and be able to work as part of a team.

Tenancy Sustainment Officers £22,600

BHA has created two posts to provide personal support and advice to our tenants including debt counselling, life skills and all aspects of welfare benefits to ensure that tenancies are sustained. You will be expected to form proactive partnerships and work closely with a range of agencies such as the Citizens Advice Bureau, Community Mental Health Team, and Social Services. You'll need a commitment to customer focus and teamwork, together with experience of providing support to vulnerable people and those in need.

We offer a competitive pay and benefits package including a generous pension scheme, holiday and private medical insurance.

Closing date for applications: Friday, 3rd April 2009.

GRADUATE HEAD OF CURRICULAR ICT (MPS +TLR 1(a) +London Fringe Allowance)

Would you like to lead a school into a high-performing specialist future (Maths and Computing funding secured from April 2009) where you would be fully supported to achieve some exciting outcomes? If so, please read on!

- We are a high performing 11-18 all ability girls' school identified as outstanding following all 4 inspections, and as such are 1 of only a handful of secondary schools in the country to date to be so designated.
- We are looking to appoint for September a well-qualified graduate Head of Curricular ICT to teach the subject throughout the school who could, ideally, also offer some applied business teaching at either KS4 or KS5.
- ICT is taught in half class groups to all students throughout KS3 and is set to expand similarly into KS4, with a commitment to enhance the ICT curriculum offered at KS5.
- This is an excellent opportunity for an enthusiastic specialist to make a real mark in a school which values challenge and fostering a love of learning amongst its committed pupils who are eager to gain new skills.
- We should appreciate letters of application (no forms) and CVs (including the names, addresses, telephone and fax numbers of 2 referees) as soon as possible, please. Closing date for applications 12 noon Monday 30th March. Interviews Thursday 2nd April. A daytime telephone number which would enable us to contact you during the week beginning 30th March would be very helpful.

"Presdales School provides an outstanding education.....High expectations for its pupils, evident through the outstanding teaching, challenging curriculum and the support provided to help pupils do well, are the reasons for its success. A large majority of pupils stay on into the Sixth Form and the school's support for them enables them to continue to progress from their already high standards".

a breath of fresh air contract compliance officer

£21,202 – £26,566 p.a. (inc local weighting) Ref: CS003 Hertford

Our Environmental Services division works to enhance and protect the District's many green spaces. We're committed to providing our residents with an excellent service.

In this challenging and rewarding role, you'll oversee the day-to-day management of the grounds maintenance contract, monitoring performance, analysing data and working with our customers to resolve problems and improve standards. Dealing with contractors of all sizes, you'll also work closely with our Area Environmental Inspectors, leading on a range of projects to develop our open spaces.

With strong experience of monitoring contracts and a grounds maintenance background, you should have excellent communication and IT skills. You will process and analyse data and will need to demonstrate good skills of negotiation and diplomacy. You will have a flair for controlling and utilising budgets effectively. Some operational knowledge of arboriculture would be an advantage but is not essential.

This is a career grade post dependent on your experience and capabilities.

For an application pack please contact Jean Petrie, Business Support Manager on 01279 655261 quoting reference CS003.

Closing date: 03/04/09. Interviews: 22 and 23/04/09 (tbc).

Bumble Lee is the runner out in front

WELCOME to Inside Track, the column that gives you an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our top tipster reveals his favourites for tomorrow (Friday).

BUMBLE LEE has made a hugely encouraging start to his career and, on the limited form he's shown so far, is the one they all have to beat at 9.30pm.

A lack of experience is obviously a slight negative, but he possesses exceptional speed and can leave his rivals chasing shadows.

DAINTY LEE does not know how to run a bad race and can claim the runner-up spot.

The normally dependable NO JOKE ROBBIE has produced some indifferent performances in recent weeks but followers are advised not to lose faith. He looks to have found a weak contest at 10.15pm, where he is fully expected to lead up the inside runners. Once in front rank, with a clear track in front of him, he can show his true colours.

Friday, March 20 selections:

7.30pm Sweep Clean
7.45pm Bonkers Billy
8pm Hilccross Sophia
8.15pm Rank N File
8.30pm Imperial Prize
8.45pm Ronnies Flier
9pm Ronnies Trouble
9.15pm Kilshannig Avril
9.30pm Bumble Lee
9.45 Treacle Rose
10pm Julies Protege
10.15pm No Joke Robbie

White Admiral is in unassailable spot

DARTS

WHITE Admiral have an almost unassailable lead of 22 points lead at the top, with three matches left.

Their 7-2 win over Moot Arrows included Dave Galloway's third 180 of the season. Stow Snooker turned over TG Whites 2-7, in spite of Whites' Steve Salter's 120 outshot.

Servo Hawks consolidated second place with 2-7 win against UG with Billy Nelmes notching an 126 outshot.

FC Wonders went down 3-6 to Golden Swift with Swift's Billy Woods notching his 3rd 180 of this season and Wonders' Edna Williamson securing her first.

Elsewhere, Moot House came out 6-3 winners against CC Foxes and Young Pretenders bounced back from their previous week's 9-0 drubbing to beat CC Colts 3-6.

Harlow athletes contribute to victory

ATHLETICS

SEVEN Harlow athletes helped Essex to an impressive victory over rivals Middlesex and Herts in a triangular Inter Counties Match at the Lee Valley Centre in Picketts Lock.

Daniel Yaxley (16) did well after accepting an 11th hour call. After playing for his Sunday League team at lunchtime, he received a phone call to cover for a last minute drop-out in the U-17s 400m.

Although feeling tired, Dan duly obliged and ran a personal best (PB) in the 400m in 56.4s for 3rd spot in the B string and then ran a great leg of 25.4s in helping Essex U-17 men win the 4x200m relay.

Billy Falconer (16), the reigning County and London Games champion, won the U-17s high jump with a 1.89m leap.

Sixteen-year-old Tom Larkin improved by more than two seconds on his county performance to win the U-17s 400m in 52.6s.

Markus Hunt (18) ran a great 22.45s to win the Senior Men's 200m.

Tom and Mark also helped their county to victory in the 4x200m relay for the U-17 Men's and Senior Men's categories.

Kathrine Foy (18) ran a perfect tactical race in the Senior Ladies 800m only to be caught right on the line by her Essex team mate, coming second with 2m 15.7s, a season's best.

Kirsty McIntosh was second overall in the Senior Ladies pole vault (3.20m), while Ria Ali Jackson was a B string victor in the Senior Ladies 60m in 8.10s.

FEL takes cup despite nerves

BOTH teams were hoping to mark their first season in the Harlow and District League with a cup final win and it was FEL that prevailed.

FEL went ahead after just two minutes on Sunday at Barrows Farm when Kenny Evans smashed home from 18 yards.

Stung, Garnon fought back and refused to cave in.

Peter McGregor had a goal-bound effort cleared by FEL'S Dave Mansell and Garnon's Paul Marshall headed just over.

FEL 3, Garnon Epping 0

(Harlow and District League, Division 4 Cup Final)

FEL came back and threatened three times without adding to their lead in the first half.

Both teams had chances before FEL doubled their advantage on the hour mark when Adam Hollyoake finished from eight yards.

On 85 minutes, Ben Johnson made it 3-0. He controlled the ball superbly with his chest and knocked it over the oncoming keeper into the empty net for number three to seal the cup.

Garnon pressed on but a consolation goal proved elusive.

Ben Johnson, who is also FEL's chairman, said: "They outplayed us a bit and we showed a bit of nerves. We can play a lot better and it was our finishing that won it for us."

"It is a good first season for us. We are top of the league and still in the cup."

around the back but there was no finish and it was the hosts who scored against the run of play. Harlow started the second half in the same vein.

However, the three

Redbridge midfielders capitalised on having an extra player in the middle of the park to force the Harlow defence into a mistake and they went 2-0 up.

Harlow were stunned and conceded a further two goals, both goals coming from effective short corner routines to leave the visitors trailing 4-0.

The visitors came back into the game and scored three goals, with Carolyn Rushton and Byers among the scorers.

They took their goals well but Harlow had too much ground to make up.

Harlow are 4th in the table.

HARLOW: Newland, Green, Douglas, Shearman, Figg, Rushton, Tweddle, Reilly, Byers, Amos, Ferdinando, Price.

Other result: East Men's Hockey League div 3SE: Harlow 3, Havering II 3.

Paul takes over as chairman of football league

PAUL Groves has become the new chairman of Harlow and District Football League.

Groves, pictured above, who is also the league's results and fixture secretary, was appointed after Bob Brayne stepped down last week.

Brayne was chairman for seven years and Groves was asked by League president Terry Ellingham to take over.

Groves said: "I'm delighted to be chairman of the League and I'm looking forward to bringing some new ideas, including the FA's Respect campaign." He added the league committee is always keen to have new people to help with the running of the league.

Ellingham said: "Bob Brayne brought the league on to a status that we are all proud of. He felt that he had taken it as far as he could. We have every confidence that Paul will continue in the same vein."

Moody puts in a first-rate effort

RUNNING

COLIN Moody ran an excellent race at the Finchley 20-miler to be the second Vet 50 finisher.

The Harlow Running Club member clocked 2h 16m 41s.

Meanwhile, Alan Wise clocked a personal best (PB) of 1:23.55 at the Adidas Half Marathon run around the Silverstone race track.

There were two other PBs for Harlow runners John Bull (1:36.10) and Susan Dewen (2:19.10).

Other Harlow RC results at Adidas Half Marathon: Jon Steadman 1:32:13; Tim Miles 1:36.08; David Crowley 1:40.55; Sean Flynn 1:42.57; Katie Herrington 1:52.34; Matt Jones 1:54.33; Joanne Chung 2:00.05; Vipin Patel 2:00.38; Sharon Coleman 2:15.08. Hastings Half Marathon results: Dave Ayling 1:36.49; Steve Ambrose 1:37.24; John Evans 1:47.44.

Cup run crashes with a loss for Rouge Lyon

ROUGE Lyon's run in the Essex Sunday Premier Cup ended when they lost 6-1 in the last four.

Lyon, who play in the Harlow and District Football League, played well for the first half-hour before Writtle scored twice on 32 and 45 minutes. Writtle's third and fourth goals on 60 and 62 minutes settled the issue, before they scored again on 88 and 90 minutes.

Lyon's consolation came from Lloyd Opara on 73 minutes when he beat two Writtle players before firing home. Lyon's chairman Michael

White, who came on as a substitute, said: "It could have been a different story if we had scored in the first half-hour when we were playing very well. We were chasing the game after their second goal and they took advantage of gaps at the back. Andrew Devine and Michael Kennedy had very good games for us." He added: "We have had a good run and put good sides out. Their centre forward (Ben Polley) was very good. He scored four of their goals."

Hawks face testing days

Harlow Town 3, Billericay Tn 0
(Ryman Football League, premier)

GLEN Alzapiedi is hoping his Hawks can rise to the challenge of three matches in six days, starting with a clash against Ashford Town (Middlesex) at home today (Thursday).

Away games at Canvey Island and Dartford follow on Saturday and Tuesday as Harlow Town seek to boost their fight against the drop.

Harlow are 17th after their win against Billericay on Saturday and need to keep picking up points.

Hawks' boss Alzapiedi said: "It is going to be a test of their character and fitness as well as of my organisational skills. They are mid-table teams and I am looking for some points from these games."

Midfielders Jordan Fowler and Clark Akers could return and defender Danny Wolf will be back from suspension but midfielder Paul Burton (collar bone injury) is out for the season.

"Jordan is a bit ahead of Clark in terms of coming back and I do not expect to Clark to be ready until Tuesday," he said. "Paul's injury might have healed but I do not expect him to come back this season."

The victory over Billericay was marred by Hawks midfielder Sam Berry being shown a straight red card in the second half for a two-footed lunge on Leon Hunter, who was also sent off for retaliating.

There were few noteworthy chances in the first period which, aside from the opening goal on 39 minutes, was not memorable.

Mark Taylor's corner saw Lawrie Stewart meet the ball at the near post with a glancing header that referee Matt Fisher deemed had crossed the goal line before being hooked away by a defender from inside the net.

Just before the interval, a shot from Billericay substitute Dean Etchell was brilliantly held by the advancing James Hasell.

Harlow doubled their lead on 51 minutes.

Chris Ellerbeck cleverly turned his marker and fed 16-year-old Tom Bruno, whose speculative shot dipped over keeper Tony Tucker and into the net.

After both sides went down to 10, Harlow went 3-0 up on 72 minutes. Ellerbeck set up the unmarked Bruno, who broke into the box before dragging a low shot past Tucker and inside the far bottom corner.

HARLOW TN: Hasell, Taylor, Bardle, Hall, Stewart, Bruno, Berry, Frendo (Okojie, 83), Crace (Dauti 88), Ellerbeck, Stevenson (Kear 94). Subs not used: S Gliddon, Stone (gk).

One win needed to stay up

LEE Harron believes Harlow need at least one more win to be certain of avoiding the drop.

It is not certain how many sides will be relegated from London division three north-east but even it is only one, Harlow are not entirely safe.

With three matches left, Norwich have only three points but this included a recent victory while Harlow have eight but have not won since Christmas. The next set of matches is in nine days, when Harlow host Chelmsford.

Player/coach Harron said: "It looks as though it could be just one club going down."

"We need to win at least one more game within the next two matches.

Thurrock 30, Harlow 5
(RFU London Div three north-east)

"Norwich are improving and we do not want to go into the last game (April 18) against them needing to have it win."

The Rams went behind after five minutes to an Angus Burns penalty before Harlow resisted home pressure for the next 20 minutes before the hosts increased their lead.

Flanker Marc Chandler scored a try in the corner which Burns converted and he increased the home advantage to 13-0 shortly after via a penalty.

Harlow conceded another try in the first half when prop Dave Stevens touched down and Burns converted to make it 20-0.

Harlow conceded two more unconverted tries, by Sam Porter and Earl Gorman, early in the second half. Fly-half James McFerran went off with a shoulder injury and Harron replaced him.

Harlow attacked strongly in the last 20 minutes and were rewarded when Chris Webb went over for a try. HARLOW: Mackie, Grimley, L Bowering (Cootes 40), Vanbeck (C), Webb, McFerran (Harron 60), Woodington, Ephgrave, Wilkins, Prindiville, (Webb 70), Hawkins, Palmer, M Bowering, Morgan, Roberts.

The Big Question who can become a foster carer?

People from all walks of life can become foster carers. In fact, at SFS we actively seek a whole range of people to match the different needs and backgrounds of the children we foster.

There are no formal qualifications required. We welcome applications from people from different ethnic and cultural backgrounds. You don't have to be married or own your own house, but you must have at least one spare bedroom that is just for fostering.

There's no set age range, but we do expect people to be mature enough to work with the complex issues that the children may have, and fit enough to perform this very demanding task.

Own your own house	✗	Care about kids	✓
Have qualifications	✗	Have a sense of humour	✓
Are married	✗	Want to make a difference	✓
Are a certain age	✗	Have patience	✓

You can.

Fostering. Can you care for a disabled child?

'Witnessing a child with complex needs respond positively to family routines and structure that's the biggest positive.' SPS Foster Carer

Some disabled children are not able to live at home with their birth families. For many reasons these children require a foster family, who can support and encourage them to reach their potential and live a fulfilling and rewarding life.

Fostering a disabled child can be very challenging and is not for everyone. Some children have a range of special needs including a learning disability, autism, a physical disability or health care needs. These children need foster carers with special skills who can help them develop and acquire new skills! The rewards can be huge.

SFS provides 24 hour support for any problems or issues that occur outside of office hours and a comprehensive training programme.

SFS also provides support for carers who provide regular short break and shared care placements.

Many disabled children require a carer who can look after them for few hours, overnight, weekends or during school holidays to give their parents a break but more importantly give them opportunities to explore new activities, help them develop their independence and to make friends.

Many people do not have the time to be a full time foster carer but have space in their lives to provide shared care.

Fostering allowances and benefits vary. Supported Fostering Services offers a weekly allowance between £378 and £756 per child, pro rata for respite carers.

To find out more about fostering a disabled child or becoming a respite carer please contact us.
